Care Home Open Week

As part of Care Home Open Week, we were delighted to welcome the newly elected Mayor, Celia Stuart-Lee, to Austenwood Care Home for afternoon tea.

The Mayor was presented with a handmade card signed by residents and staff, along with lavender freshly cut from our gardens. One of our residents had also chosen an olive tree from a local garden centre for the Mayor to help plant during her visit. The olive tree reflects the values behind our logo - growth, strength, peace, and community.

Celia spent time chatting with residents over tea and cake, making it a truly enjoyable afternoon for everyone.

Outings and competitions

At Austenwood Care Home, our dedicated Activities Team are always finding creative ways to encourage residents to stay active and engaged. This month, they successfully persuaded two of our residents to enjoy a trip out for coffee and a change of scenery. The outing was a great success, and one resident's family was so delighted to receive photos of their loved one enjoying the experience that they shared them with the wider family and sent a heartfelt email thanking the team for their efforts. It can sometimes take patience and persistence, but seeing our residents smiling, engaged, and making memories makes it all worthwhile.

There has been lots of fun and friendly competition at Austenwood Care Home over the past couple of weeks with Carers Week celebrations and our Residents vs Staff challenge, where correct answers earned the chance to pop a balloon!

Residents also enjoyed a football quiz and World Cup bingo, with plenty of laughter along the way. To recognise everyone's efforts, medals were awarded to our superstars of the day.
